

Paul Waddell

Paul W. Waddell lives and works in Los Angeles. Waddell's performances are responsive navigations of complicity within cultural constructs and value systems— often as impermanent as the medium of performance. He constructs images through the utilization of his body through interactive situations with the audience. Flawed, dynamic power is emphasized through a shared experience.